

Angra

"Evil Warning 639"

Visit "Evil Warning 639" on MotoLyrics.com

Matos, Bittencourt)

Time to believe in the dream that you've seen

In a world that is broken and mean

One day the sun it will shine for us all

Take the freedom that you have fore-seen...

Miles away

You're heading for the unknown and there's no way to get back

Time to complain

Nobody is telling the truth

To live in the crowd

sick of your own vanity

Dead scattered petals around

Hymns of betrayal

calling you for the attack

Evil warning

You're much too fast

and much too high,

No time to worry!

It's over,

no more remaining time

to cry and feel the pain...

In the morning

You stagger up to start to fight

You get so lonely...

with no fore-sight

until another day!

Run, don't wait for the sun,

cause it's setting on your hopes

Don't look far behind

for the shadows,

they will stand...

Until the end!

Time to believe in the dream that you've seen

In a world that is broken and mean

One day the sun it will shine for us all

Take the freedom that you have fore-seen...

Time to believe in the dream that you've seen

In a world that is broken and mean

One day the sun it will shine for us all

Take the freedom that you have fore-seen...

Evil warning

You're much too fast

and much too high,

No time to worry!

It's over,
no more remaining time
to cry and feel the pain...
Run, don't wait for the sun,
cause it's setting on your hopes Don't look far behind
for the shadows,
they still stand...
Until the end!
And don't let your pride
make your blood
flow cold in vain...
Until the end

Visit Angra page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.