

Great Expectations Movie

"Breakable"

You know that too much honesty can be

So unkind

And every time you throw him to the floor

Why are you surprised to see he's breakable?

You always try to find what's holding him

Away from you

But do you ever see your anger standing there

Right between you?

And every time you throw him to the wall

Why are you surprised to see he's breakable?

Tell the world that he's breaking your heart

Go tell the world nothing's ever your fault

Go tell them all

And every time you throw him to the floor

Why are you surprised to see he's breakable?

And every time you push him to the wall

Why are you surprised to see he's breakable?
