I'm learning to live without your love
Day by day, day by day
I'm learning to live without your love
Day by day, day by day

You kick me in teeth
As I was heading for the door
I can see you speak, but can't hear you anymore
No I can't hear you anymore

Unexpected tears (Unexpcted tears)
From our faces fall (from our faces fall)
For years we've talked this through
But I look at you and you look at me
Anyone can see

I'm learning to live without your love
Each day by day, each day by day
I'm learning to live without your love
Each day by day, each day by day

Take a look around your yard
And you ask yourself
What can't I leave behind
Their just things after all
You don't need things anymore
No, you don't need things anymore

It's funny how much junk
Into one trunk can fit
I knew this day would come
When I look at you and you look at me
Anyone can see

I'm learning to live without your love
Each day by day, each day by day
I'm learning to live without your love
Each day by day, each day by day

Where in the world will I go, I don't know
Anywhere but here

Where in the world will I go, I don't know
Anywhere but here

Where in the world will I go, I don't know
Anywhere but here
Where in the world will I go, I don't know
Anywhere but here

Where in the world will I go, I don't know
Anywhere but here
Where in the world will I go, I don't know
Anywhere but here

Memories, ever so sweet
I started thinking, maybe this love is unique
Memories, ever so sweet
I started thinking, that this love is unique
Memories, ever so sweet
I started thinking, stupid me, I started thinking, never think, I started thinking
Memories, ever so sweet
I started thinking, never think, I started thinking, never think, I started thinking
