Woke up drunk again this morning blood on my sleeve and puke chunks in my hair

I don't care and neither does this girl beside me what was her name
I know her from somewhere

Just look at my hair in the mirror
it's turning gray
give me another bartender what else can I say

I don't remember last night
I know it's sometimes better forget they say that I'm scraping the bottom least I know I haven't been there yet won't care until it's too late it's early, but I'm doing what I can tonight I'm gonna get drunk I'm making my stand, a genuine whisky man

Just look at my hair in the mirror
it's turning gray
give me another bartender
what else can I say

[Instrumental]

Came in late to work again another hangover rumored as the flu

They don't have a clue They know that such a fine young man would never hang around the places that I do

Just look at my hair in the mirror
it's turning gray
give me another bartender
what else can I say

I don't remember last night
I know it's sometimes better forget
they say that I'm scraping the bottom
least I know I haven't been there yet
won't care until it's too late
it's early, but I'm doing what I can
tonight I'm gonna get drunk
I'm making my stand, a genuine whisky man
