Should I just keep rolling all over this town
among the buildings
and amid the sound
feels like I've been wading this whole season through motivation is fading too

Got no expectation
no shadow to cast
no reputation's prepared to last

free to just keep going and wander on through the sleeping streets
in the morning dew

and it's no good

Feels like I've been waiting
compensation is overdue
