i went to school that foggy monday morning day i took my seat and started to wish we could play sharpened
my pencil and pressed it to the paper and the pencil started writing away it said

every single day
you come here to school wishing u could play
because you are too cool
well i got, a message for you and please listen very closely i wish there was sumthin new i just feel like youre using me so then i think had what i seen really been there looked at the paper and all the writing was gone i had to w wonder if it all was true had the pencil just said, had the pencil just said
