it must be something in the way you walk it must be something in the way you talk

I'm not sure just yet it must be something in the way you dream, you just go home and the thirteen days in between you and I

this is me before I fall apart
this is me before
I come undone

I've been tired for days and days
I've been tired for days and days wishing that I had a fortune- don't all the beauty and I say stop well, won't you be mine it must be something in the way you taste your lips are magic sauce and I say stop

this is me before
I fall apart
this is me before
I come undone

I've been tired for days and days well it could have been a month or it could have been a year but I I gave up long before long before you cared

her art inspired me to
to do my best and to paint my music like like I saw it best and she says I grew up well well, well I grew up strong
'cause no one's got my back no one's gonna write me my songs it could have been a month or

it could have been a year but I

'cause

I've been tired for days and days
I've been tired for days and days and days
I've been tired for days and days and days
I've been tired for days and days and days
I've been tired for days and days and days

it could have been a year but I
like I saw it best and
she says I grew up well
no one's gonna write me my songs

it could have been a year but I

'cause I've been tired for days and days
I've been tired for days and days and days
I've been tired for days and days and days
I've been tired for days and days and days
I've been tired for days and days and days
