Oh I don't believe that anything's decided
That everything can happen if we tried it
So I guess I've been making all these choices
That it's my fault, the hurting that it causes

I've done it to my myself
There's no one else to blame
It's really goddamn tragic
But I've done it to myself

So we don't care what you tell us, old man
'Cause that's what a heart full of lust does
It can conquer anyone

Oh I don't believe that anything can hold us
Back from all the things we really want 'cause
Everyone I see around had made it
So I guess I don't want it enough cause I'm still here

I did it to my myself
There's no one else to blame
I thought it would be magic
But I did it once again

So we don't care what you tell us, old man
'Cause that's what a heart full of lust does
It can conquer anyone

So we don't care what you tell us, old man
'Cause that's what a heart full of lust does
It can conquer anyone

We can conquer anyone
So we don't need to hear you say no more
