

Friska Viljor

"The Cure"

Visit "The Cure" on MotoLyrics.com

Oh you know I can't say I'm sorry
If I think I've made my right choice
But you have every right to be angry
So take it out on me

I'm tired of this life where I'm faking
Every emotion that comes to light
I have to start this life where I'm making
Myself feel alright

Oh and every time when I go back there
I regret everything I've done
I start imagining a different life where
We've settled down

But that's just a couple of seconds
Before I realize what I do now
I've spend my days doing what I'm thinking
I wanna do at that time

I'll be on your side no more
Think it's time to close that door
And take me to a place where we
Won't meet any more you see

I need something more in life
Than trouble, angst and constant strife
If we change these little things
I'm gonna get better

I'll be on your side no more
Think it's time to close that door
And take me to a place where we
Won't meet any more you see

I need something more in life
Than trouble, angst and constant strife
If we change these little things
I'm gonna get better

