Mushroom Head - The Final Act

wide eyed sleepers
death in motion
daylight creepers
wearing all night pain
bleeding moments
spilling over
non-existing as they crawl out into a world that calls them real

sign the contract it's the final act matter of fact better take a step back
relax the show must go on no one so on and so on

as if under mass hypnosis
the wide eyed sleepers fall into mass graves they'll feel safer in the dirt their own opinions won't be heard if asked could you decide what any man is worth

could you decide?
could you decide?
could you decide?...

they steal it with a handshake seal it with a smile it feels like an earthquake
treats you like a child defeats you with your mistakes leaves
you in denial deceives you in the first place lied to all the while they can't

see anymore
how their wide eyes have made them blind in spite of themselves
