all these moments you were alone there was noone you could trust your mother has never been at home your father's always needed cheap lust always needed a beer hit your mother if she was here

What about you?
I am learning from the others, too. but my attitude will not change I'm not to tell the thruth our society doesn't live in reality so come on don't do wrong you had to do things that seemed to be cool 'cause your fed up with being the fool every dammed day you took these drugs to make them notice you you think that's live you were one of those bugs
