Now that I am leaving you what do you have to lose? the truth you tried to keep from me well it nearly drove me crazy I have grown weary from the sleepless nights with you is that a broken heart in the corner of your eye? something to remind me
You made this love a teardrop waiting to fall there are those who can't love right, I just can't love
wrong when you're lonely in the night how I hope you will recall
you made this love a teardrop waiting to fall Well I will not forgive you for betraying the trust between us though I have always cared for you and I've loved you half my life and when I give my heart again I know that I'll remember love is just a fragile flame and trust just fuels the fire When I think of all the years your love has taken from me
I can't believe I'm leaving you....
You made this love a teardrop waiting to fall
recall
