Many times we'd help each other out
Fearless for fear this is nothing new
You're asking me to use my finger tips
What I'm sculpting and moulding isn't you

These may seem like stupid words
And I do know that you've heard
Everybody is looking for their saving grace
In the race to find a place

I was watching through the window
You were going through the dances
I've been writing all of it down
I've been taking all my chances
This always seems to happen

It's something that you do
I just can't help myself
And I wish that I could move more in time with you
I've watched you step and I've watched you turn
I've watched you move like a knife in the water
I've watched you move across the floor
Over to me for all to see

Now your asking what it is I want
Perfect chance to dance with you
With a little time to work it out
I know the results could astonish you

I was watching through the window
You were going through the dances
I've been writing all of it down
I've been taking all my chances
This always seems to happen

It's something that you do
I just can't help myself
And I wish that I could move more in time with you
I've watched you step and I've watched you turn
I've watched you move like a knife in the water
I've watched you move across the floor

Over to me for all to see

It's something that you do

I just can't help myself

And I wish that I could move more in time with you

I've watched you step and I've watched you turn

I've watched you move like a knife in the water

I've watched you move across the floor

Over to me for all to see
