"Hard To Bear"

She broke your heart yesterday
It tore you apart when she turned the other way
You came to me and I didn't know what to say
But now I do
I've got something to share with you

I know it's hard to bear
Difficult to watch, hard not to care
When it means so much
And it's hard to bear but not impossible as such
Hard to bear but not impossible as such
You're not always gonna miss her touch

You lock yourself in your room
You keep the curtains closed to help seal in the gloom
Your bedclothes still stink of her stale perfume
But you hope the smell doesn't vanish too soon

I know it's hard to bear
Difficult to watch, hard not to care
When it means so much
And it's hard to bear but not impossible as such
Hard to bear but not impossible as such
You're not always gonna miss her touch
