A flicker of light a circle of sound you know my spirit could never be bound by animal deed or animal thought you know a spirit could never be caught like a fish in a net, a butterfly you stick in a jar -- watch struggle and die I have no fear I feel no dread I've got the muse my spirit is fed

And waht's behind the doors ahead I'll never guess for what I can't control will not cause me distress and as I ride the road there are signs in front of me and though I may be battered by the stormy sea --

All I know is what I know is that I just . . . I just don't know

All I know is what I feel is that this feeling must be real So what's your name and what's your faith and what's the time? -- This is no race

All I know is what I know is that I just . . . I just don't know
