and she speaks out loud
and she speaks outright
the only difference
is in who we are tonite
and she waits outside
knock knock
she cries
its cold out here
but a little to warm inside the real storm is inside save your face
i want you to know me
find your place
but dont you come inside i want you to know
that you were my first mistake and little does she know what lies within and little does it show
my sins
but she'll never get it back if she doesnt relax she'll never get it back
