"Through The Fire"

Whispering I hold you
Sleep while I explain
Some things I never told you
That I've found the words to say

For the wasted years I've lived a lie
With an emptiness inside
I was reaching for a sign
I thought I'd never find

When I laid eyes upon you
You scattered all my dreams
A cage that I belonged to
Shattered at the seams

Now I know that there is only you
And together we'll remain
Through our endless nights and days
We'll set our lives ablaze
To rise beyond the flames

Through the fire now I understand
We are complete
Through the fire
Destiny has planned
That we should meet
Through the fire
Now I know it's forever truly
To show you that I loved you
I had to let you go
But the dream that I hold on to
Was someday you would know

Now I feel what lies inside of you
And I know that day has come
For when all is said and done
You're shining like the sun
In my universe of one

Through the fire now that I have seen
How it can feel
Through the fire deeper than a

Dream stronger than steel
Through the fire I will love you
Forever truly
Through the fire I will love you
Forever truly
You're all that I can see
Spend your life with me
