Lifes so unfair you thought
Then turned on your tv, I
Lifes so unfair you sobbed,
Then picked up the keys,
You locked your castle door
Behind you to go for a ride,
Your shiny car roars as you
Think of what youve been denied,
No one understands your mind,
No one ever tried,
No one has a clue of what's behind these eyes,
And i lie, but i believe myself,
And the truth hurts more than anything else,

Drowning in self-pity killing time,
It helps me to write the words,
And think about the grime,
And if you piss me off please don't apologize,
My anger drives conviction as i proclaim these silly lies,
If you don't believe me just read between the lines,
No one has a clue of what's behind these eyes,

And i lie.
