On the phone I waited for an hour
For you to tell me I'm free
Then I knew there'd never be a winner
Learning to be less like me

Take me back again
Take me back again

Let me see what's left up on the table
Instead of changing history
When I saw that we were getting thinner
How'd you become so carefree?

Take me back again
Take me back again
Yes or no is not the game I'm playing
But I care if you miss me
I'll be the joker slipped in your deck of cards
The ghost that roams your memory

Take me back again Take me back again
Take me back again Take me back again

The world won't rest, the other side is stirring
My heart is a planet of blue

Take me back again Take me back again
Take me back again Take me back again
