

Ten Foot Pole

"Dying Duck In A Thunderstorm"

Visit "Dying Duck In A Thunderstorm" on MotoLyrics.com

You heard the warnings, saw the signs
Do you still think we left you behind?
Don't you remember how we tried?
Another place, another time

Without reason, without rhyme
Can you imagine life without your pride?
You look up at me with those hurt puppy dog eyes
I never meant to hurt you

I'm sorry that I had to be the one to tell you
That you screwed up for the last time
I know that there were times before
When I said I would be there

That's when I thought the choice was mine
But now I've lived and I know better
Promises were never meant to be Because I couldn't see that the things you thought you'd change

You had no will to rearrange
So you made a liar out of me
What else can I say?
I'm sorry to turned out this way

Do you think we'll ever be the same
I'd still call you my friend
But to you it's the end
I know you think that I'm the one to blame

Visit Ten Foot Pole page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.