

Ten Foot Pole "Hammering Out The Details"

I find myself entrenched again
In things that just don't matter
So I throw it aside
'Cuz I'm not gonna waste my time

I've spent most of my life punching the clock
Hammering out the details
I want to get up off this ride
Once again I ask myself

Who am I?
What have I done that I am proud of?

It's time to wake myself up
Everyday another crises I work
To avoid disaster, new deadlines
And the urgent phone calls

In the end what is it worth?
Well, I'm not satisfied just hammering out the details
I want to get up off this ride
It's time to claim my life

Who am I?
What have I done that I am proud of?
Who am I?
What have I done?

I'll be gone before you know
I want to make a mark before
I go, it's up to me to take control
