Sally tells long for love, it started
In new amsterdam, she's gone, gone
Through change, gone through planes
And magazines, and that is all, the Church bells ringing through her head,
Some live life through the dotted line, some
Bet the safe bet sounding off

The good life, the one life, the whole
Life, the old life, the lasting single
Solitary world that you will know,
The good life, the one life, the whole
Life, the old life, the lasting single
Solitary world that you will know

This counsel's faltered enough, and
Shadows drag through the dusk, and
That's the way it always goes down
Now this counsel's faltered enough,
Back through the sin that you trust
And that's the way it always, always
Goes

Chasing dreams and signing off,
Through the haze that's given up, she's
Gone, gone through change, gone
Through flood and hurricane, and that
Is all, sheltered victory's defeat a
Martyr for belief in time, a martyr
For a belief in life

The good life, the one life, the whole
Life, the old life, the lasting single
Solitary world that you will know,
The good life, the one life, the whole
Life, the old life, the lasting single
Solitary world that you will know

This counsel's faltered enough, and
Shadows drag through the dusk, and
That's the way it always goes down

Now this counsel's faltered enough,
Back through the sin that you trust
And that's the way it always, always
Goes

Our winter is long, too long for us
Every year, and our blood is ice, ice
Just like the roadway glare, the poor man
Survives, the rich man sheds many
Tears, whoever we are, we wish to God
We were better here

But no i won't say that, no i won't be
There, i'm not the answer, i don't see
Clear, i don't know, myself
I don't know, myself, myself ,
And days feel like years
