You time is here, Your time is up
And all my guilt is wearing off
I'm starting to enjoy the part
Where you come crawling back

Cause every time your waking up
And searching for someone to trust
You struggle with the obvious
You had it all in me

You're all you hate to be
You don't get it, it's how you are
You only want it when it's gone
So leave

Your chances came but now are gone
With each excuse (the same old song)
Your sorry is too insincere
It suits you so damn well

Cause every time you're trading up
For status just to show it off
You know it doesn't fool a soul
Because you just fool yourself

You're all you hate to be
You don't get it, it's how you are
You only want it when it's gone
So leave

So leave me to be on my own
The story's played out
And your shipwrecked (left at sea)
And the water fills to be my redeem

You don't get it, it's how you are
You only want it when it's gone...
So leave
