I've found something that nothing else brings, keeps me complete
So listen closely, could you try harder
Faking something that shows some signs that you believe

There is still worth in time spent
But we don't enjoy the journey to the end
Well that's not perfect for me

This life is enough
This life is my love
It's so hard to stay young
It's so hard to stay young

This life is enough
This life is my love
It's so hard to stay young
It's so hard to stay young

I feel doubt when your expectations leave me outdone
But my successes, they won't be measured by long term lessons
I live each moment like my last

There is still worth in life spent
So what's the point in racing to the end?
Well that's not purpose to me

This life is enough
This life is my love
It's so hard to stay young
It's so hard to stay young

This life is enough
This life is my love
It's so hard to stay young
It's so hard to stay young

Stand up, stand up now, grab a hold of what you got Stand up, stand up now, the best years are spent growing up

Stand up, stand up now, listen to your hearts request Stand up, stand up now, it never leads you straying from the best

This life is enough
This life is my love
It's so hard to stay young
It's so hard to stay young

This life is enough
This life is my love
It's so hard to stay young
It's so hard to stay young
