Come hear the story, I can't describe
We're trapped in feeling we can't deny
We're both thinking the same thing
We don't care at all

We fool ourselves in believing anything, anything at all
But this night is ours...

We're watching time stand still like a photograph
We lost it all but we both know this will never last
Although we wish it wasn't over
This night marks the end as lovers, as we drift apart

My sight is blurring, your hearing fades
But our hearts are beating, that's why we stay
We're both moving the same speed
We don't slow at all

Ignore your mind just for feeling anything, anything at all
Cause this night is ours...

We're watching time stand still like a photograph
We lost it all but we both know this will never last
Although we wish it wasn't over
This night marks the end as lovers, as we drift apart

And tomorrow isn't part of the story
This is where it ends
The sun is coming up in the morning
But I'll keep safe until then

We're watching time stand still like a photograph
We lost it all but we both know this will never last
Although we wish it wasn't over
This night marks the end as lovers, as we drift apart
