Her eyes tell me everything
And the silence speaks of all the Pain that she's feeling

She turns her back and walks away
And from now on all my thoughts are Sent her way

She feels more
More of what she hates
Tell me why she smiles when she cries
To put it all away, to hide it from my face

If only I could do anything
To let her understand the helplessness
That I'm feeling
She'd know how much she means to me
She'd know all my love is for only her
