"Triumph"

Whispering winds call for change
Regardless of whether or not I am feeling the Pain that lies within
Distinction from all that is normal
I can't comprehend again

I rip through life with cold blooded fury
Regaining fight through strife
And awkward exchanges and
I will find the truth
I will taste a life that moves you

Darkness falls all around
Consuming the heroes that luminate,
Now all the sound that warms the room
A silence as stable as 4,000 memories of love and you

Chorus

My head hangs in shame
Fumbling through words that inadequately
Tell my story of plans changed
In time I developed an alternate path that Turns pain to fame

Chorus
