Verse 1

Seven a.m. waking up to fast hits the alarm cause it reminds Her that The sheets are colder, than when He would hold her Worn out words and wasted time has Her perfect world broken, torn, and tired She knows it's not a way to live, when sorry has nothing more to give It gets harder every night, It'll get easier in time

Chorus

Stronger, facing the wind as it blows her And every moments gets Closer, to who she will be
She may not be there yet, but everyday she gets Stronger

Verse 2

Letting go never seems to start but before long she notices her heart don't heart like it did Each minute is medicine.
She's cut her hair, cut her ties with the times before they held to tight Life's to short not to breathe or wondering if there'll ever be peace.
She's picking up things that, She forgot She had.

Chorus 1xBridge

Ain't stopping, Ain't dropping, any little thing that she's ever wanted Keeps running and soon she'll be Chorus 2x's
