When I feel I'm over reacting and I'm trying too hard it might be that I need to get out in the country my friend
There are many ways of seeking my fortune I don't really have to lose my mind on the highway (my) thoughts always racing away to the sun no one's stopping me from lying around There's surely something to it all taking a friend
I know that I can share another day in the warm country air
