I've been waiting forever
To open all the doors that lead to you...
But everytime I get close something in me shuts and I loose track of the only thing that keep me in control.
Forgive me if I seem so insecure...
And I'm no good at faking laughs
Or making up excuses just to see you walk past smiling back at me...

And you can always understand me,
But I guess this time you wont...

Well you think its all on you
And you think that everything's about you
You really think its all through,
But the world has turned it's back on you
And you though that this was going to be easy,
The hearts you break are now breaking you...
So take your eyes and put them down in Vinegar,
Feel the way I always felt with you.

Now that that's out,
I can finally feel free to explain all the pain I held inside.
It made me sink, it made me fall,
but it also helped me rise
To newer heights,
To better thoughts
And I got over you.
Still it hurts to know that you were never mine...

And you can always understand me,
But I guess this time you wont...

Well you think its all on you
And you think that everything's about you
You really think its all through,
But the world has turned it's back on you
And you though that this was going to be easy,
The hearts you break are now breaking you...

So take your eyes and put them down in Vinegar,
Feel the way I always felt with you.

Well you think its all on you
And you think that everything's about you
You really think its all through,
But the world has turned it's back on you...

And you though that this was going to be easy,
The hearts you break are now breaking you...
So take your eyes and put them down in Vinegar,
Feel the way I always felt with you.
So take your eyes and put them down in Vinegar,
Feel the way I always felt with you.
