

Nicks Stevie

"JANE"

Visit "JANE" on MotoLyrics.com

Such a little girl...such a hard life

She could look a challenge...right between the eyes

Disappointment...would become her middle name...

Up against the wall, Jane

So her nights became nightmares...

As she fought for their souls

And the days became worse...

For the ones she had lost

Children of the world...

the forgotten chimpanzee

In the eyes of the world...

you have done so much for me

CHORUS:

There are angels...here on earth...angels

There are angels...here on earth...

Angels...sent from God

Come away from the wall...stay with us

Well you can, Jane

So she watched as they put them all into cages

Well they might as well have caged her very own baby

They might as well have put us both into prison

Through a window...all our sorrows...

would become our only visions...

Nothing more

CHORUS:

There are angels here...angels

There are angels here on earth...angels

You will never feel...that you have ever done enough

But you have, Jane

Such a little girl...such a hard life

You could look a challenge...straight between the eyes

Disappointment...would become her middle name

Up against the wall, Jane

Nothing more than the shadow of a man

Come away from the wall, Jane

Well they might as well have put us both into prison

Come away...if you can, Jane

Through a window...all our sorrows...

will become our only visions

Come away, Jane...

Come away...come away if you can

In the eyes of the world...you have done so much

Visit Nicks Stevie page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.