Learn to be a stranger

Blond on blond

In silence she says excalibur

I beg of you now

What was it that fell

Was it

One fallen leaf

Like the feather that it was

Was freedom by choice

Or baby was it love

Was it a thorn in your side

Something that you hide

Something you don't touch

Because it hurts too much

Ooo

Well have you come to see

That my face is not seen

Ooo outside my frost covered windows

Oh and just how deep

Do you hold that dream

In your hands each night this time

In your hands each night this time

Oh was it you

I heard calling which voice

Well I know that you are going

Which voice

Did I force you to remember

In the sacred name of love

To be brave save the stranger

Sable on blond

Dark upon light

Because it hurts too much

Just how deep

Do you hold that dream

In your hands each night

In your hands each night

In your hands each night

Ooh I beg of you now

What was it that fell

Well this time I think it was you babe

This time

Ooo well I think it was you babe

This time

Ooo well I think that it was you baby

This time
