"Flesh For Bones"

I'm sitting here frozen in this bed I made Considering the weight of the bricks I laid now that I'm through
One by one sealed every crack that I could slip Between to find my way back, find my way back home to you

And I'm burning all my bridges
With these matches I light
To illuminate my path to what is right
And even if it's true what they say
That you can't go back home
Once you've cast it away
I would still have left tonight

You know, baby, I would be with you if I could
To trade my flesh for your bones
I would, I would, I would, I would, I would

I carry with me on my way
All the ghosts of all the love that I let slip away
The heavy weight of promises made
That if I could exonerate I might just lift off today

And I'm burning all my bridges
With these matches I light
To illuminate my path to what is right
And even if it's true what they say
That you can't go back home
Once you've cast it away
I would still have left tonight

You know, baby, I would be with you if I could
To trade my flesh for your bones
I would, I would, I would, I would, I would

I chased your memory from my mind
But every song I write is just a wish to find you near or far
Through all the tears and all the time
That I been running blind, I still ain't got to where you are

And I'm burning all my bridges
With these matches I light
To illuminate my path to what is right
And even if it's true what they say
That you can't go back home
Once you've cast it away
I would still have left tonight

You know, baby, I would be with you if I could
To trade my flesh for your bones
I would, I would, I would, I would, I would
