

Terri Hendrix

"Cathy's Corner"

Visit "Cathy's Corner" on MotoLyrics.com

there is a place called cathy's corner where her mind takes her to breath when life closes in there is a place for answers under the covers of the trees of cathy's corner every time she moved it caught up to her every time she moved she ended up in the same place she would leave her home and the walls would come with her always in between her and what she has to face there is a place called cathy's corner where regrets they just lie and she picks up what she did or didn't do and she lets it go as it all slips through her fingers and up into the sky she can no longer run she holds what she tried to run from and the past will haunt her and the future will scare her she puts those pieces together at cathy's corner where her mind feels peace when life closes in there is a place for answers under the covers of the trees of cathy's corner she is going home to
cathy's corner

Visit Terri Hendrix page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.