As a man was shufflin' his feet he picked up a penny off of the street as he squeezed that penny it turned into a dime what may look like a miracle happens each time you know what you hold onto as he squeezed that dime it into a ruby and his pockets filled with gold by the time he made it home his wife had left him and his house had been sold you know what you hold onto it's all so very simple or easy to complicate what gets the most what gets the least at the end of your day well the man took his left hand covered his right rubbed on a penny as he thought of his wife by the morning she was in his arms again may look like a miracle but it happens when you know what you hold onto
