lisa byers sells jewelry on the corner her jewelry is made out of various stones they are wrapped in silver hung on strips of leather she says stones hold it all together but i swear they keep me alone with my heart and these stones lisa byers says i live life fast and hard and if i were to slow down i could stop and skip some stones and if i were to skip some stones across the water i would see why i'm bothered and alone wrapped in silver on a strip of leather around my neck i wear my gift it brings me peace it brings me comfort and i wear my stones close as i learn how to live you have to play from the heart sing from the heart live from the heart love from the heart with these stones
