Last night when I touched you

It brought back memories

Of the way it felt the first time

I held you close to me

I gave you my heart

And swore I'd always love you

And I still do

And when I closed my eyes

You were waitin' there

Standin' in the moonlight

With the wind in your hair

You said there would come a time

I wouldn't dream of you

But I still do

And I still wake up every morning

And I thank God above

Out of all the people on the earth

He gave me you to love

Don't you know my heart

And soul belong to you

I swear it's true

So when you asked if I still need you

After all this time

I can't believe that thought

Would ever cross your mind

The answer is so simple

I just thought you knew

I still do

I still do
