She had such tiny tears
Just like a Barbie doll
She likes to shop at Sears
And visit shopping malls
Now she's a big mamma
Tell poppa
Cry, cry, cry, cry
Old Money
Your old money doesn't matter now
Have mercy
Mercy, mercy, daddy's going fishing now
He put the bait onto his line
He's winding out his reel
Fish are swimming in the pond
Gonna let 'em sail away
He's got his eye on you
He knows just what she wants
The fish is gonna bite
She is his latest catch
'Cause he's Big Daddy
Oh, mammy

Cry, cry, cry, cry

Big Daddy

Oh, daddy's scraping bottom now

Oh, mamma

Daddy, daddy, daddy does the talking now

Mesmerized like horny toads

By shiny things like jewels and gold

Throwing all their pearls to swing

Let 'em sail away

You lucky dog

You'll be on Easy Street

Drinking champagne

She gets all that she wants

His heart's desire

No more worries anymore

Like a fairy tale

Anything that she likes

I seen you do the dog

I seen you getting down

A swimming back and forth

When daddy's not around

Big Daddy

Oh, she's pretty as a picture now

Oh, mamma

Oh, what a little martyr now

He knows how to drive 'em wild
One day you'd think she'd see
Saying "This is mine and this is her.
Now take that stuff away"
One and one is two
The velvet lies sing softly
Each with a golden spoon
And she passed her time in the wind and the rain
Got a one way ticket on a Southbound train
Said baby, baby, wants to have a good time
And Big Daddy laughed
And Big Daddy smiled
Like dynamite
One fine day she'll explode
Who's laughing now?
No one sees anymore
Sneak in and out
Don't get caught running 'round
Swim back and forth
Bubbles float to the top
