

Gerry Asmus

"Hard To Say Goodbye"

Visit "Hard To Say Goodbye" on MotoLyrics.com

I had an older brother, so I know how it feels He's with the lord now, I know his faith was real Sometimes I wonder, if he's watching over me
And if he is, is he proud of who he sees Some people say, god's children shouldn't feel the pain
That we should understand, we'll see our friends again
But I know how the angels felt, all through the last words Jesus said
The skies grew dark, the land shook, from the tears
that they shed
And though I know my brother, was in the lord on the day he died
My eyes grew dark and my hand shook, as I stood by his side
And I may say I have no fear and I don't ask god why
But it can still be hard to say goodbye

Now you've lost a dear friend, you loved more that you knew You never know till they're gone, hoe much they mean to you There's an empty feeling and an aching in your heard Uh, that's how it feels when friends are pulled apart
I guess by now you know, could leave us feel the pain Don't be afraid to let it show, don't you be ashamed For you know how the angels felt, all through the last words Jesus said
The skies grew dark, the land shook, from the tears
that they shed
And though you know the one you loved was by your father's side
Your eyes grew dark and your hand shook as you broke down and cried
And you may say you have a fear, and you down ... go blind
But it can still be hard to say goodbye

When the tears start to flow, you know it isn't wrong
Just remember Jesus ... when ... was gone And if you think I'm over it, you can see ...

God is still the only reason I can carry on Now you must carry on,
With god's blessing I'll grow old But someday life will end But when it does I know I'll have to part with you my friend
Sometimes when I think about, the day I'll say goodbye
To all the ones I love, it makes me want to cry
Some people say the Christians shouldn't feel the pain
That we should understand we'll see our friends again
But I will know how Jesus felt and how it must have wait and done
When he said come, behold your mom, and mom behold your son
And if you're there, I'll say these words, on the day I'm set free
I hope my friendship matters much as your has meant to me
And let me say that I won't fear, and I won't ask god why
But it would still be hard to say goodbye Yes it would still be hard to say goodbye.

Visit Gerry Asmus page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.