Can you hear what I've been thinkin' do you hear my words out loud?
cause there's an echo that's insistent, why doesn't the phone ring out now but when it does it rings no question, but when it don't I wonder why, baby got somewhere you can reach me on this dark and lonely night.

ooooohhh, what a faith to arise...yeah feel that look in your eyes you know i'll be thinkin we'll be bringin that time and place in your mind, and you need a lesson to hang on too, feel what it is that's alive and you know that it's only one more day, that i'm gonna be this far away, and now i'm sitting here on this phone, i've run out of things to say...

Cept this is gonna feel good to get back home now itt's gonna feel good to just get back home i've been out here stretchin on my own, and now it's gonna feel good to just get back home I take a plane out in the morning puts me in tomorrow night got something i want to say to you on the hours that i lose in this flight there's a beauty about london, though the rain's still pouring down it only makes me thinking of breakin', so the night wakes, and breaks and shakes the ground.

and oohhhh....what a faith to arise,,,yeah see that look in your eyes you know you'll be thinkin' you'll be singin' bout that time and place in your mind sun and you let them grown on into be what it is that's alive you know that time she's a passer of everyday know what it is =, no one you can save just write your name in the sky, with the curve of the earth of night. now it's the end of the turn, i can see the reflection in your eyes so now it's gonna feel good to get back home
