When you get home
Home away from your home from home
When you get home
Home just seems like your home

They'll be people dancing everywhere
When the evening comes there's no one there
People watching as the sun goes right on down
Peace and quiet there will be for miles around

When you get home
When you get home
Said, when you get home, yeah
Home away from your home from home
I said now there's no place like home
And you can do just what you want and live where you
roam

They'll be people dancing everywhere
When the evening comes there's no one there

When you get home
When you get home
Said, when you get home from home
Home away from your home
I said there's no place like home
Said you can do just what want and live where you
roam

They'll be people dancing everywhere, yeah
When the evening comes there's no one there
People watching as the sun goes right on down
Peace and quiet there will be for miles around

When you get home
When you get home

Said aay
Aay aay aay aay

Said when you get
