Set the lines on fire
It's what you do to me constantly

Burning with desire
It's what you take from me patiently

So burn all your bridges and learn
That it's the only way that your voice will be heard

Take me out tonight
It's what you do to me constantly

What's beyond the lines?
Why won't you follow me gracefully?

So burn all your bridges and learn
That it's the only way that your voice will be heard
Come on baby
Burn all your bridges and learn
That this could take a while

I remember all the times we talked
Every time you acted like a stranger
And all the times that we were left here

Have you ever been inside these walls?
Could you tell a killer from a savior?
And could you tell me how you got here?

Cause can't you see
That we could be frozen here in time

And can't you bend
And just pretend you didn't start the fire

Stay,
My love [x4]
