One day I'll have to face the truth
I will
I know I'll find it hard to wake up
And say these words to you

So did the days drag on for you?
Was I gone for too long?
There's something changing in me
I've got to show it, got to show you

'Cause day after day without you
I find that there's no one to turn to
All this madness that I've found
I'm so thankful when you're around
It's true, yes I do

In every place I'll face a world
Of strangers
We'll talk and laugh about the good times
We had together

So did the days drag on for you?
Was I gone for too long?
There's something changing in me
I've got to show it, got to show you

'Cause day after day without you
I find that there's no one to turn to
All this madness that I've found
I'm so thankful when you're around

'Cause day after day without you
I find that there's no one to turn to
All this madness that I've found
I'm so thankful when you're around
It's true, yes I do

There are times when I see you
There are times when I'm mad
And when I wake, you disappear
That's what I always find so hard

'Cause day after day without you
I find that there's no one to turn to
All this madness that I've found
I'm so thankful when you're around

'Cause day after day without you
I find that there's no one to turn to
All this madness that I've found
I'm so thankful when you're around
It's true, yes I do

It's true, yes I do
It's true, yes I do
It's true, yes I do
