Have you still got the illusion
Of what's lying ahead
Then you'd still have your innocence
And days wouldn't seem so bad

But I've always wondered
Why you've never grown but now I know

Yes, you've gotta take a little time for yourself
You gotta live a little life on your own
Yes, you've gotta take a little time for yourself
It's just what you're needing

Storms always make you happy
They hide everything inside
Make believe that they're soft to touch
Then they blind you with their light

That's why I've always wondered
Why you've never grown but now I know

Yes, you gotta take a little time for yourself
You gotta live a little life on your own
Yes, you've gotta take a little time for yourself
It's just what you're needing

I know what ya needing, yes I do
But I've always wondered
Why have you, you've never grown
And now I know

You gotta take a little time for yourself
You gotta live a little life on your own
Yes, you've gotta take a little time for yourself
It's just what you're needing
Lord it's what you're needing, yeah

Take a little time for yourself
Gotta live a little life on your own
Take a little time for yourself

Take a little time for yourself

Gotta live a little life on your own
Take a little time for yourself
