After a daily self consumption
I crossed the bridge that let me to your side
Another blink, another jinx and it will rise
Tranquility and silence are just pushing me

(chorus)
To bleed in black and white
(Release the pressure kept inside)
These words won't run tonight
(And they would never)
Moments that shouldn't be forgotten
(No)
Don't they remind you of anything?

Rising to yet another sunset
I keep looking up, strait into the skies
A ray of ironic is just pushing me
(chorus)
To bleed in black and white
(Release the pressure kept inside)
These words won't run tonight
(And they would never)
Moments that shouldn't be forgotten
(No)
Don't they remind you of anything?

Then it seems so right and simple
The purest impressions that can't be filed
And one my ink will run dry
And I'll be gone.
It will be gone (x3)
