For my wedding, I will dress in black
And never again will I look back
Ah, my dark angels we must part
For IÃ¢â‚¬â„¢ve made a sanctuary of my heart

To want what I have
To take what IÃ¢â‚¬â„¢m given with grace
For this I pray
On my wedding day

For my wedding, I donÃ¢â‚¬â„¢t want violins
Or sentimental songs about thick and thin
I want a moment of silence and a moment of prayer
For the love weÃ¢â‚¬â„¢ll need to make it in the world out there

To want what I have
To take what IÃ¢â‚¬â„¢m given with grace
For this I pray
On my wedding day
On my wedding day

I dream, and my dreams are all glory and light
ThatÃ¢â‚¬â„¢s what IÃ¢â‚¬â„¢ve wanted for my life
And if it hasnÃ¢â‚¬â„¢t always been that way
Well, I can dream and I can pray
On my wedding day

So what makes us any different from all the others
Who have tried and failed before us
Maybe nothing, maybe nothing at all
But I pray weÃ¢â‚¬â„¢re the lucky ones; I pray we never fall

To want what we have
To take what weÃ¢â‚¬â„¢re given with grace
For these things I pray
On my wedding day
On my wedding day
