Girl, it's true, you're leaving sad and blue
Girl, you know you broke the golden rule

I found cigarettes in my ashtray
And I don't even smoke
That means someone else is putting
Milk in my coffee

So, pack your things and go
You came to wreck my life, pack your things
Pack your things and go
You came to wreck my soul, pack your things

I found that your love was fading
And I was blind to see, girl
No you've got to go because
Love has many faces

So, pack your things and go
You came to wreck my life, pack your things
Pack your things and go
You came to wreck my soul, pack your things

Pack your things and go
