

HERE COMES EVERYBODY "MADE OF SOMETHING"

I know a girl made of stone.
Sink her into the dirt or she'll tumble.
She's got granite in her bones.
She needs to be protected or she'll crumble.

Everybody's made of something. So what are you made of?
Everybody's made of something. So what?
What are you made of?

I know a boy made of cheese.
Leave him out, he'll grow rancid and mold.
He's got gelatin behind his knees.
Keep him refrigerated, or he'll liquefy.

I know a girl made of paper.
She's been scribbled on from head to toe.
You can write what you want on her skin.
After awhile it will be tough to get a word in.

Everybody's made of something. So what are you
made of?
Everybody's made of something. So what?
What are you made of?
