Let the rain pour down from God above with the blood on my blade no love begin the flood open the gates let the battle begin we're in with the wind at our backs ready for any attack sound the horns prepare begin the swarm of flaming arrows hitting your body keeping you warm with the uniform of my sworn enemies who raped and pillage my city and spread disease feel the wrath of the warriors staff the path you take can lead to the math that the masters break The clash of the titans are you frighten of loss fighting for the cause to free you and your with Gods laws
Looking at the stars aligned with the sign in Mars destruction what's your function you roll with God.
(Hook)
The soul of the masters elements disaster breaking you faster transmitting the broadcaster The blade swings slashing your throat divisions on a mission seeking the notes dropping bombs by remote

Load up the cavalry no salaries the keys to life and memories the strife bring in the thieves cut the heads off hide in the loft don't even cough or breathe or pay the cost move and your lives lost let your spirit reunite with your weapon you wanna fight hear the sound of the warriors stepping into the night The eye in the sky is looking upon us you'll never hide no cover to shelter your lies a pity your shell dies.
In the clash.....
Gods enemies falling upon their knees crawling beheading the dead souls who run away from the calling.
Behold the white horse remorse never the case from every corner of the world the battle is taking place Let the war drums set the pace you face fire resume from the Temple of Boom and seek hire thought maybe you live maybe not the blades hot many renegades ready fro battle die on the spot with one shot one whole city become rock the clash rages on people remain calm Good, bad all in the balance your going mad you can never tell Heaven or Hell blood shedding is all around you can't run sitting the cell

When the wars over the light will shine clearing the spell celebrate now put the blades to rest no wickedness only the blessed will hold down
