Went across the line
Touched the other side
Looked around just to see what would happen

Found another door
Thought I wanted more
Looked around just to see what would happen

Never meant any harm
I never meant any harm

Let the wine glass find only you and I
Drink it down just to feel that less empty

It's the truth that hides in the darkest night
It's all part of a side that we can't see

Never meant any harm
I never meant any harm

Built a life for you and I
Built a life for you and I
In the dark anything could happen

When your fortune turns
It's a lesson learned
Trying to carry the weight of the wicked

There's no going back
When the chips are stacked
Win or lose it's the rest of our lives

I never meant any harm

All these lines are codes on the open road
Every evil thought every single word

Every trace you hide piles up inside
Fill it right to the top and explode

Never meant any harm
